

We'd like you to meet

Fred Voorhees

DDS, MSD

Dr. Voorhees takes good health very seriously. His patients' and his own. That's one of the reasons you'll find him biking all over Central Texas, and taking yoga classes. Staying in great shape also gives him the discipline to stay focused on what counts most; providing compassionate care. After his residency in oral surgery at Baylor Medical Center, he was recruited to Austin Oral Surgery in 1982. He and his fellow partners do everything from dental implants to jaw reconstruction. One thing he consistently enjoys about the practice is interacting with Austin Oral Surgery's young generation of doctors. The thing he likes best about biking? He says it's staying in shape. We think it's the funny shirts...
